

VAW-77 Command History

1. Command Composition and Organization. The primary mission of Airborne Early Warning Squadron SEVEN SEVEN (VAW 77) is to provide Detection, Monitoring and Command and Control support for Counter-drug operations in the U.S. Southern Command (USSOUTHCOM) Area of Responsibility (AOR). VAW 77 is a special mission squadron assigned to Commander Naval Air Force, Reserve (CNAR) based onboard NAS Atlanta, Marietta, Georgia. The squadron operates four Northrop Grumman E-2C Hawkeye aircraft. The command falls under the administrative control of Carrier Air Wing Reserve 20 (CVWR 20) and under the operational control of Commander, US Naval Forces Southern Command (COMUSNAVSOC) when deployed. VAW 77 deployed to the USSOUTHCOM AOR under a CJCS Execute Order for 150 days in FY 2002.

Counter-drug mission tasking comes from Director, Joint Interagency Task Force East (JIATF-E) via the Tactical Support Center at Naval Station Roosevelt Roads or other agencies who exercise tactical control (TACON) of squadron missions. CVWR 20 assigns fleet support tasking.

Squadron manning consists of twenty Training and Administration of Reserve (TAR) officers; twenty-two enlisted TAR's, twenty-six Selected Reserve (SELRES) officers and seven SELRES enlisted personnel. Thirty-nine Northrop Grumman contract personnel provide aircraft organizational level maintenance.

3. The Nightwolves have met each operational commitment with enthusiasm and professionalism. VAW 77 continues to be the premiere AEW Command and Control squadron and the recognized expert on the Nations War on Drugs. Their efforts are most deserving of the recognition afforded by the Noel Davis Award.
